

Windham School District Lane Murray Excellence in Teaching Award

Educator attributes and qualities to consider

(this is not an exhaustive list)

- They have positive teaching and learning mind-set.
- They have good classroom-management skills.
- They create a classroom environment based on mutual respect and make their classrooms a safe learning community so students can concentrate on schoolwork.
- They strive to form positive rapport with their students by clarifying that they have students' best interests at heart.
- They use assessment data to improve their teaching.
- They are realistic.
- They are adaptable.
- They engage each student in the learning process.
- They respect the district and campus mission and vision.
- They are life-long learners.
- They follow the directives of campus leaders.
- They regularly meet district and campus deadlines.