A large fire broke out Wednesday centered around the Paducah City Holding Site. The exact cause of the fire has yet to be determined. The blaze engulfed the entire block where the refuse site is located, burning a large area at the junction of 2nd street and FM 2876.Unchecked, the fire could have caused a great deal of damage as resident homes and apartment sites are located close to the location of the fire. Paducah Volunteer Firemen were quick to respond to the fire and had it under control very quickly. Special thanks goes out to all those firemen who kept this blaze in check, battling it in temperatures above 100 degrees. It was a nasty business but thankfully the fire caused little damage to anyone’s home.

This fire was just the beginning of a week of large fires the Paducah VFD were busy with. See page 6 for a rundown of Sunday’s area grass-fires.

TDCJ Windham School District:
An Ongoing Success Story

When you talk about schools in our area you usually talk about Paducah ISD, Guthrie CSD, and then of course there is Matador, Crowell, Childress ISD, just numerous schools we are all acquainted with and that each year, through sports, we come in contact with. Well, there is another school in our area, one that gets little attention, but one that is very important, one that serves a very distinct class of students.

It’s the Windham School District. Never heard of it? Well, that’s quite possible. But believe it or not it is a very large and very real school district right here in Texas, and, you could really say, in our community.

Windham School district (WSD) provides appropriate educational programs to meet the needs of the eligible offender population (that means the students are incarcerated, or prisoners, in the TDCJ system) thus reducing recidivism by assisting offenders in becoming productive members of society. Studies show that education and employment reduce recidivism and save tax dollars (remember that sentence?) Many of the offenders in the Texas Departments of Criminal Justice can acquire the educational background and basic skills necessary for attaining employment upon release. The typical Windham student functions at the sixth grade level.

WSD academic and career and technical programs are designed to provide offenders with the skills they need to obtain employment upon release. Windham provides a variety of academic classes and Career and Technical Education to offenders incarcerated in the TDCJ, along with behavioral change programs.

Paducah PD Makes Arrest
Chase Ends In Arrest

A seemingly simple stop turned into a very dangerous chase through the back alleys of Paducah last Sunday. Paducah Police Chief Roy Rodriguez stopped William Perkins in Paducah on Sunday.

‘I initially stopped Perkins to question him for allegedly assaulting his girlfriend on a July 3rd 2017 warrant. I did an ‘officer protection’ pat down on Perkins and noticed he was acting very nervous. Between his actions and the inconsistencies in the answers he was giving me during questioning I was more than a little suspicious,’ said Rodriguez.

Chief Rodriguez said it was at this point that he discovered the package during his pat down. ‘From experience I knew what I had found, and it was at this point that Perkins decided that I had him so he began resisting arrest.’

Rodriguez said that Perkins got him in a headlock as they fought, but he got out of it as he took Perkins to the ground.

‘When we went to the ground the suspect went for my gun. He got ahold of it but luckily he could not pull it from the holster.’

Perkins took off on foot, and that’s when Paducah residents came out in full force. Chief Rodriguez was amazed with the reaction from locals.

‘I was so proud of our community. As soon as the call went out we had help from everywhere. We had firefighters out on the road, EMS and locals were out on the street looking for the suspect. Sheriff Mark Box was amazing. He was so quick to react and be there on the scene.’

Perkins was finally apprehended in the backyard of local Rick

WSD operates schools on 89 sites serving TDCJ. That’s a lot of schools!

All this information is available on the WSD/Windham School District website, along with much more information.

But to find out more about Windham School District, we talked to the WSD Principal and Principal-In-Residence for the Panhandle Area of WSD, Mrs. Erika Moore. You may be familiar with Mrs. Moore, she is a long time resident of Paducah and married to Tim Moore, owner/manager of Moore’s Thriftway. They have two children, one a graduate of PHS and one currently enrolled in high school. Along with being residents of Paducah for over 20 years, Mrs. Moore has been employed with WSD for seven years. Moore has a Bachelor’s Degree from Stephen F. Austin State University in Elementary Education with a specialization in Reading. She has a Master’s Degree from Texas A&M Commerce in Counseling and a Principal’s Certification from Stephen F. Austin. She began teaching in 1991 and worked as a K-12 counselor and District Testing Coordinator for Paducah ISD.

We asked Mrs. Moore of just how many WSD schools in the area she is the director.

‘I am a Principal at the T.L. Roach Unit in Childress, Texas. I am also the Principal-In-Residence for the 10 Panhandle Area Units. A Principal-In-Residence is similar to a Regional Administrator.’

Obviously the WSD operates a little differently than normal schools. We asked her apart from the obvious, just how the school differs.

‘We are the education system for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Our students have the opportunity to earn a High School Equivalency Certificate (HSEC) if they do not have a High School Diploma or HSEC. They also can take up to three vocational courses in a variety of fields including, but not limited to, Automotive, Culinary, HVAC, Truck Driving, and Welding. We offer 42 vocational courses. Our students are offered a Cognitive Intervention course to guide them in making future decisions, as well as Pre-Release course they can take once they are within 2 years of release.

‘Yet another big difference is the ages of students. In prison, education is blind to the ages of students. It simply looks at needs.

‘We have students of all ages enrolled in school’ says Moore. ‘Behavior status is a factor in enrollment. We offer a class for students under the age of 22 known as Lead and Achieve Academy. It focuses on reading but works on math and language skills as well. We offer an ESL class as well to support students who struggle with speaking and understanding English. Our Literacy classes are for students who do not have a High School Diploma or High School Equivalency Certificate. Literacy is required for these students and we work to help them earn their HSEC as quickly as possible.

‘I once attended a graduation at the Tulia unit and one particular graduate was in his late 50’s, so it is possible to earn a degree at a later age. This individual was incredibly proud and so eager to move forward and continue his education. He is planning on continuing with a vocational course to extend his education.’

‘But along with getting a High School diploma, students also have access to continuing education, Moore explains.

‘We offer a Literacy program for HSEC and vocational courses for specialized training in specific fields. Students can earn an Associate’s Degree, Bachelor’s degree and a Master’s degree if they elect to attend college. There are college programs on several units. The Roach Unit is blessed to partner with Clarendon College to offer a large selection of college classes. We are the only unit that offers dual credit. Clarendon College has generously given us 50 free slots for dual credit students who qualify for college classes.’

Moore went on to say that several colleges are affiliated with the program. WSD and the Roach Unit campus partner with Clarendon College to offer courses to offenders who qualify for college courses. They offer dual credit for students who are working on their HSEC as well as a variety of college classes to help participants work toward an Associate’s Degree.

‘But having the courses and classes available is one thing, having the teachers available to teach the classes is another. Moore says that the teachers that teach in the WSD are just like teachers in other schools.

‘Our teachers are Texas certified in the same manner as any other Texas teacher. We do receive consistent specialized training for safety and security purposes as well as appropriate adult Staff Development training to benefit our students in preparation for their HSEC.’

But remember, this isn’t just any school. In all schools, students are expected to be on their best behavior in order to maintain class discipline and support the task of education. In the WSD, it’s even more important that each and every student be on their best behavior.

‘Our students are expected to behave appropriately while attending school,’ says Moore. ‘Our teachers use Social Contracts as one method of encouragement to promote proper behavior while in class. The students on our campus rarely misbehave. My staff works hard to keep our students actively involved in their education so discipline isn’t an issue.’

It is interesting to note that an offender can enroll in school if their custody status is allowable in a school program. ‘We do not discriminate due to offense,’ says Moore. ‘We do exercise causation in enrollment based on the offender’s behavior on the unit. We want to maintain a safe working environment for our employees while offering a high quality education to our students.’

Still, one must remember that these are not just regular students. They are offenders and they are in prison for crimes committed against their fellow citizens. Some crimes are petty, some— not so small. Some are downright scary. But one of the points to this story, and one of the things that Mrs. Moore was very adamant about was that, once an offender serves his time and is released, if he has the tools to re-enter society, gain access to employment, there is a very good chance he will not return to the prison system again. That’s good. That’s good for you, me, for everyone. Remember, your tax dollars pay for what you would call, ‘extended stays’ in the no frills hotel.

And that’s just what Mrs. Moore and the employees of WSD are trying to do, lower the percentage of recidivism among offenders.

The best way to do this, studies show, is with education. The better educated, the better chance an offender will become part of a functioning, productive society.

I recently had the opportunity to speak to a graduating class at the T.L. Roach Unit. I had no idea what to expect, but was very pleasantly surprised. Without knowing any of the backgrounds of any of the graduates (there were a little over 40 I believe) I was surprised at how seriously they took getting their diplomas, and how surprised at how seriously they took getting their diplomas, and how proud I was of what Mrs. Moore and the employees of WSD are.

While a short and sweet rain burst hit Paducah in the afternoon, it wasn’t enough to ward off the fires that hit the area. In fact, the lightening from the scattered thunderboomers were probably the cause of the fires. These fires hit the area at the time we go to press so we have very little in the way of concrete facts of cause, or the exact areas where the fires occurred. We received information from a number of sources but none of them can be completely confirmed at the time of this writing.

It seems there were several large grass fires in the area beginning around 1pm. Childress, Crowell, Guthrie Fire Departments and the Texas Forest Service assisted the Paducah VFD in these fires. There were probably many more assisting, this is just what we have at this time. The fire North of town seemed to be the larger of the two. The conditions, it seems to this reporter, are horrible! Dry and unbelievably HOT! With wind conditions helping out its old buddy high pressure.

A very special thanks (and many prayers) go out to the Paducah VFD, and all those Fire Departments that came in to fight the good fight. And to all the other services and all the people who aided them in their battle. Without them on the line we’d be at the mercy of Mother Nature herself. And believe me... she can get HOT and MEAN!

Range Plant of the Week

Range Plant of the Week: Catclaw sensitive briar (Schrankia occidentalis) is common throughout much of the Rolling Plains. Its presence indicates good range condition as it quickly disappears from overgrazed rangelands. It is readily eaten by livestock and deer and the seeds are consumed by quail. A unique characteristic of this plant is that the leaflets will close upon being touched.

In a cutting horse final, riders usually don’t like to be among the last in order because the better cattle most likely have been worked.

But Grandview rider Grant Setnicka and a mare named Ichis My Choice defied the odds. The duo were the next to last to work in the second bunch of cattle during the Classic Challenge finals of the National Cutting Horse Association Summer Spectacular on Saturday, July 22, at Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum in Fort Worth.

However, Setnicka and Ichis My Choice, a 5-year-old mare, turned in a whopping score of 229, six points higher than second-place finisher Beau Galyean and Metallic Rebel.

The victory earned the mare’s owners, the J Five Horse Ranch of Weatherford, the $20,484 first prize for 5- and 6-year-old horses who are second-year competitors.

Despite the late draw, Setnicka said there were plenty of great cows available.

“I was pretty deep in the set of cows, but the cool thing about Fort Worth is they put five cows in for each horse, so there are usually plenty of cattle to choose from,” he said. “I was lucky enough to have a few guys [herd helpers] find them for me.”

Galyean and Metallic Rebel, who were the seventh duo to work in the first bunch, took the lead with their 223. It looked like the score was going to stand until Setnicka and Ichis My Choice made their sizzling run late in the performance.

Second place finisher Metallic Rebel was sired by Metallic Cat, a famous stallion that’s owned by Alvin, Becky, Colton and Cade Fults of Amarillo. Metallic Rebel and Galyean won the 5- and 6-year-old open title at the Super Stakes, the Summer Spectacular’s sister show that was conducted in April in Fort Worth.

PRCA update

The Days of ‘47 Cowboy Games Rodeo is offering a $946,900 purse, a record payoff for the Salt Lake City-based late-July rodeo. Each event winner during the July 24 final performance will receive a $50,000 check.

One cowgirl hoping to earn a big check is Kellie Collier of Hereford. She advanced to the July 24 Gold Medal Round after finishing third in the third performance on July 20 with a time of 17.47.

One cowboy hoping to each a big check is three-time world tie-down roping champion Tuf Cooper, a Childress native who lives in Weatherford. He advanced to the Gold Medal Round after finishing second in the first performance on July 19 with a time of 8.5 seconds.

Twenty-three time world champion Trevor Brazile, an Amarillo native who lives in Decatur, also made the cut in tie-down roping after finishing second in the fourth performance on July 22 with an 8.4.

PBR update

Australian Lachlan Richardson clinched the title at the Professional Bull Riders Real Time Pain Relief Velocity Tour show Wednesday, July 19, at California Rodeo Salinas in Salinas, Calif. Richardson began the night with an 87.5-point first round ride on a bovine named Smoothie (Julio Moreno/Dallas Schott), then capped off the victory by riding Captain Jack (Julio Moreno/Dallas Schott) for 88.5 points in the championship round. The Australian earned 80 world points, moving him up 16 spots from No. 61 in the world standings to No. 45, and $10,610 for the victory.

Calgary Stampede champs

The 2017 Calgary Stampede in Alberta concluded its 10-day run on July 16. The winner in each event during the final round received $100,000 (Canadian).

Zeke Thurston, an Alberta cowboy who has qualified for the Las Vegas-based National Finals Rodeo the past two years, earned a coveted $100,000 check in Calgary as the result of clinching the saddle bronc riding title with a final round score of 92. Thurston also won the Stampede’s $100,000 saddle bronc riding title in both 2015 and in 2016.

Other 2017 Stampede champions who each earned a $100,000 check were bull rider Sage Kimzey, bareback rider Richmond Champion, steer wrestler Tyler Waguespack, tie-down roper Cory Solomon and barrel racer Tiani Schuster.

Brett Hoffman, a Texas Cowboy Hall of Fame member, has reported on rodeos for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for more than three decades. Email him at bhoffman777@earthlink.net.
Leslie’s home trying to break in. ‘We have him in custody and he’s going to be there for awhile,’ said Rodriguez. ‘We have him on $30,000 for Aggravated Assault with a weapon.’

Rodriguez said that he did briefly come in contact with a female face to face. ‘Thankfully it was brief and he told her to be quiet. He left her unharmed, but it’s worrying to think what might have happened.’

Beside the two altercations that Chief Rodriguez has been involved in, there has also been a hostage/shooting incident involving the Paducah Sheriff’s Department that was thankfully resolved by the Sheriff’s Department without any harm coming to locals. So, just remember folks, this may be little old Paducah, but we are still part of a great big scary world out there. BE CAREFUL!

Mahoney Announces Candidacy for Texas Comptroller for March 2018 Democratic Primary

“I want to be the Comptroller for all Texans, not just the select few masquerading under the umbrella of some notion of political correctness. As citizens, it is long past time to begin to embrace common sense.”

Tim Mahoney has filed his Designation of Campaign Treasurer, beginning efforts to get on the Democratic Primary ballot in March 2018. “We are planning to get on the March Democratic ballot by having 5000 Texans sign our petition. Those 5000 signatures must be presented to the Democratic State Party by December 11, 2017, and we plan to work with Texans in every part of the State to get it done.”

“It is time to end the divisiveness and stigmatization of certain groups that isolate and dissociates them for having a public voice. Everyone knows that what you do to the least of us, you do to all of us. This divisiveness has made finding our common core values almost impossible; we are increasingly unable to decide what our future could be. Indeed this creates a trauma in our culture that is painful and disabling.

“It is time to end the bitter obnoxious political language which is needlessly hurting our state, and hurting large swaths of us, from Women to trans-gender youth. The Comptroller’s office should be working with local communities to develop economically grounded programs that ensure the success of our common economic futures, or educational systems, and the health of our citizens. That future is dependent on small businesses and communities finding a way to safe harbors, and as the Texas Comptroller, I intend to partner with Texans to make that happen,” said Tim Mahoney.

“I want to be the Comptroller for all Texans, not just the select few masquerading under the umbrella of some notion of political correctness. As citizens, it is long past time to begin to embrace common sense.”
